Proposal to Divide Levee District Will Be Revised

State Rep. Horace Calvo, Granite City Democrat, told the Press-Record Tuesday that legislation to divide the East Side Levee and Sanitary District will be revised but can still be acted on during the General Assembly session ending in mid-June.

News Notes Bomb Injures Former Granite City Attorney

Dwight Taylor, 40, corporation counsel for the city of Collinsville and a former Granite City resident and attorney, remained in the intensive care unit of Belleville Memorial Hospital today after a bomb ripped his car at 12:15 p.m. yesterday in Collinsville, seriously injuring the attorney.

Witnesses said Taylor was entering his car, parked across from his law office, when he noticed a strange briefcase inside the vehicle.

He reportedly called to his law partner, Moses Harrison II, who was on the sidewalk nearby, to ask if the briefcase was his. Harrison replied it was not. A bomb in the car, believed to have been in the briefcase, tore open the top of Taylor's auto and injured Taylor's face, chest and right arm as he opened the car door.

He was taken to the Belleville hospital, where a spokesman said this morning he is in satisfactory condition but suffering extensive injuries.

"He seems in no acute danger," the spokesman said. He indicated Taylor may be moved from intensive care later today.

Taylor started his legal career with the Maurice Daley firm in Granite City in 1957 and practiced here for about four years before entering partnership with Harrison in Collinsville. While here, he resided in the Cloverview subdivision.

Another Collinsville lawyer, David Rothenberg, was convicted last night by a Madison County Circuit Court jury of conspiracy to murder. Rothenberg, 40, of Collinsville, was charged with the murder of James Wells, Glen Carbon insurance investigator who was fatally beaten and shot Dec. 10. Rothenberg was found innocent of murder and innocent of soliciting to murder.

Mayor Richard Daley of Chicago yesterday praised Sen. George McGovern, new front-runner for the Democratic presidential nomination, as a man "who talks in language the people understand." He said McGovern's primary wins Tues-

County Board to Plan Auction Sales at Meet

Auction sales of a garage full of farm equipment at the old tuberculosis sanitarium grounds and of office furnishings and equipment at the State House are on the agenda of the meeting of the Madison County Board at 9:30 a.m. Monday.

Dates for the sales have yet to be set. The farm equipment had been used when property at the TB grounds was leased for farming purposes. Office equipment is in excess and no longer in use, county officials reported.

The board will consider appointment of five members to the County Regional Planning Commission, authorized at April meet, a commissioner to the Civic Memorial Airport board and trustees where vacancies exist on fire and water district boards.

A resolution is to be presented to apply for a federal grant for planning by the Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission.

The board also is to authorize advertisement for bids for painting the outside of the home of the administrator of the County Nursing Home and for a data recorder for the data processing department.

viously ironed out by the Legislative Reference Bureau will now be taken care of and will be presented to a House-Senate conference committee," Rep. Calvo reported.

The legislation is intended to divide the levee district along the Madison-St. Clair Counties boundary line to form two new districts, one encompassing the Quad-Cities and the other serving the East St. Louis area.

The goal is to obtain districts more responsive to the electorates of the two communities, and to put each area "on its own feet" to deal directly with levee and drainage matters.

The levee district has been the target of much criticism over a long period of years, advocates of dividing the district point out, adding that the split could give both the Quad-Cities and East St. Louis "a fresh and badly-needed new start" in coping with drainage needs.

Among those urging division of the district are the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce and ABIL (Agriculture - Business - Industry - Labor) group.

"I reviewed the technical aspects with the staff of Governor Richard B. Ogilvie and they listed the needed revisions in a letter they are sending to the Press-Record," Rep. Calvo said.

Text of the letter, received yesterday from William S. Hanley, Gov. Ogilvie's legislative counsel, follows:

"I am writing in response to your editorial of May 30 urging the governor to sign legislation which would divide the East Side Levee and Sanitary District into two new operating districts in St. Clair and Madison Counties, respectively.

"Upon an examination of House Bill 2416, as amended, I believe there are serious legal and public policy questions of which your paper should be aware prior to final consideration of this legislation by the General Assembly.

"Among the deficiencies, the bill presently fails to state the number of trustees constituting the board of each of the two new districts.

"Although substantially increasing salaries of the trustees, the bill fails to raise the amount of their official bond beyond the present $10,000 requirement.

"The legislation fails to amend the present Sanitary District Board of Library Directors for the adoption of an interim budget (Sec. 11), continuing ordinances, orders and resolutions (Sec. 12), succeeding parties in interest in pending litigation (Sec. 13), continuance of employees' health insurance program (Sec. 27.1), public access to present board records (Sec. 28), procedure for designating depositories of public funds during transition (Sec. 7), fixing the boundaries of the new district as a matter of public record (Sec. 8) and enforcement of legal rights in tort and contract (Sec. 9).

"I believe a reading of the bill will evidence that the formula for dividing the present assets and liabilities is unclear at best.

"Moreover, nowhere does the bill provide for the dissolution of the present levee district nor for documents of record evidencing the creation of the new districts.

"Additionally, there are possible constitutional and legal deficiencies in that the bill impairs the security behind existing contracts of indebtedness and is not subject to referendum in accordance with the original enabling act under which the district was first created.

"I am enclosing a copy of this legislation in its present form for your review.

"I earnestly believe that you will recognize it to be in the interest of the taxpayers of both Madison and St. Clair Counties to have these questions resolved before the legislation is enacted and submitted to the governor for approval."

Granite City Council members went on record Monday night in favor of the establishment of a separate levee district in the city.

Ten aldermen attending the regular session of the council adopted unanimously a resolution providing that "the corporate authorities of the city of Granite City go on record as being strongly in favor of the bill to separate the East Side Levee and Sanitary District."

Alderman R. E. Robertson, serving as mayor pro tem in the absence of Mayor Donald Parney who is ill, remarked: "That is a good resolution."

Legislation to separate the Madison and St. Clair County sections of the levee district has been approved by the Illinois Senate and referred back to the committee to clarify several technical questions.

Region Report—Sewer Pact, New Construction

(Illinois Metro East Industrial Development Corporation)
The City Council of Granite City has agreed to a long-term contract which provides that the city treat sewage from Nameoki, Venice and Chouteau Townships.

Madison County, sponsor of the township sewer development, will build interceptor sewers to convey sanitary sewage from township collection lines to the Granite City treatment plant.

Council approval climaxed efforts to secure city cooperation in the sewer development program begun by township officials 14 months ago. The contract will be forwarded to the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission and the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council for approval.

A number of new projects are making news in this region.
Planning for construction of a new $1 million office building by the Madison County Federal Savings and Loan Association in Granite City will commence immediately. The firm hopes to occupy the structure in 1973. Construction is to begin soon on an addition to the Lincoln Trail Bank and Trust Co. in Fairview Heights. The two-story addition, encompassing 21,000 square feet, is expected to be finished by the spring of 1973.

Foundation work began at the site of a new Illinois Bell Telephone Co. building at Collinsville. Total cost of the building is expected to be about $7 million.

A second shopping center is to be constructed near U.S. 50 and Illinois 159 in Fairview Heights. Encompassing 32 acres, the center will include a supermarket, a cinema, restaurants and 200,000 square feet for commercial and professional units. Completion is expected within two years.

Tentative approval was given by the governor's interagency construction review task force to plans for a $4 million construction project at Bellevue Area College. The project will provide more classrooms and related facilities at the Carlyle Avenue campus.

The Illinois Department of Conservation announced that the St. Louis Downtown Air Park on U.S. 40 will be closed on June 30. According to department officials, continued use of the airport on state park property is not compatible with plans to develop the park.

The Illinois House unanimously approved a $1.15 million appropriation to fund the St. Louis Metropolitan Area Airport Authority for the fiscal year beginning in July.

The measure next went to the Senate.
A decision for the proposed, new airport is expected to be made this summer by the Federal Aviation Administration. An additional public hearing is to be conducted by FAA. A bill to appropriate $10.5 million to replace funds lost in the recent two-year road construction freeze was defeated by the State Senate. However, arrangements to provide additional highway funds from the state Department of Transportation are being explored.

Owens-Illinois, Inc. was honored by an award made by the Public Relations Society of America for its efforts to improve the environment in the 26 states in which it operates. O-I has two manufacturing facilities in this region.

Despite efforts to save the structure, demolition of the 111-year-old St. Clair County court house began. Citizens groups were unsuccessful in attempting to devise a means to finance movement or purchase of the building.

State Studies New Doherty Slough Drainage Program

A revised plan for development of drainage improvements for the Doherty Slough area of Nameoki Township is being studied by the Illinois Division of Waterways and the Illinois Department of Government Affairs following a meeting between area and state officials in Springfield, it was reported this week.

John Guillou, director of the waterways division, informed the Quad-City delegation that the new proposal by Granite City Mayor Donald Partney will be reviewed, although the project calls for an additional $90,000 in cost to bring the overall estimated project cost to $75,000.

Attending the conference last week were Partney; William "Mike" Ebersold of Venice, president of the East Side Levee and Sanitary District; Edward Juneau, city public engineer; Leon Scroggins, city attorney; State Rep. Robert Walters (R-Alton), and State Senator Sam Vadalabene (D-Edwardsville).

Representing the state were Guillou and Robert Lenhausen, director of the governmental affairs department.

New Route Proposed
The new plan would provide a new route for construction of a drainage channel from the Doherty Slough area to Horseshoe lake. The new route would bypass parcels of property which the levee district has been unable to purchase without prolonged condemnation proceedings that could delay the project indefinitely.

Under the new proposal, the state would provide $110,000 for the originally proposed project by the state—while the levee district would provide $40,000 and the city $25,000, with an additional $80,000 needed.

Partney was informed last week that U.S. Senator Adlai Stevenson III will seek $45,000 in a federal grant to aid the project. A possibility that the levee district could provide the remaining $30,000 under a loan arrangement was discussed at the meeting.

The Doherty Slough project has been in the planning stage for two years, but has been held up by the lack of some of the easements necessary for the drainage channel.

Bill to Take Politics Out Of State Fair

Copley News Service
Springfield—Politics may go out the doors of the billowing tents at the Illinois State Fair if a bill designed to take politics out of the fair is approved in the Senate.

The measure was approved in the House by a 104-16 vote. It was sponsored by Rep. J. David Jones, R-Springfield. In the Senate, the measure is sponsored by Sen. Clifford Latherow, R-Carthage.

If it passes the Senate, the bill will be sent to Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie, who is expected to be ready to sign the measure into law.

Under its provisions, the 119-year old exposition's control would be removed directly from the governor's office. It would be operated by a new and independent board.

Supporters of the measure say this would give the fair continuity of management regardless of which political party has control of the governor's office.

When Gov. Ogilvie took over the office he held over the Democratic fair manager—Franklin Rust. Up to that time, it had been the practice that when a new governor came into office a new fair manager was appointed.

Contract, Debt Issues
Charges and counter charges quickly arose on alleged contract rigging at the fair. This was topped by reports that the fair was running hopelessly in the red. So, changes were made on the methods of charging for entering the fairgrounds and more stringent bookkeeping practices were employed.

No major strides in cutting the debt appeared on the horizon, although Ogilvie said he would keep trying to cut the fair's deficit down. In an effort to put the annual exposition on a more businesslike basis, the current legislation was introduced in the General Assembly.

It seeks to create a seven-member board to operate the fair. The seven would be appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the Senate.

The board in turn would appoint the fair manager under provisions of the state personnel code. The fair manager and the board would then have direct control of the fair as opposed to control now by the governor's office. The governor presently appoints the fair manager.

Members of the board would include the dean of agriculture from one of Illinois' state universities and six other members. Of the appointments, no more than three could be of the same political party. The members would serve staggered terms.

Illinois Power Using Gas More Efficiently But Thwarted in Increasing Basic Supply

This week's announcement of a limited resumption of natural gas permits by Illinois Power Co. was based on several new findings, it was related today by H. G. Meenen, senior vice-president.

A reassessment of gas supply and demand was made by the utility firm after its May-1 cut-off to residential and small commercial heat customers.

Findings developed during the reassessment were as follows:

First, Meenen said, an overall review of the existing situation—based on demands established last winter, adjusted for standard weather situations—provided a profile for potential demand and a base for determining the supply situation in the 1972-73 heating season.

Second, the supply situation was studied. While no new pipeline gas from suppliers was received, the further development of the IP Shanghai storage field near Galesburg passed expectations.

Third, new wells for injection and extraction of gas from that storage area, showed in March that the peak day deliverability was greater than had been anticipated.

While storage of gas from pipelines provides no new gas, it does provide an opportunity to store during summer and distribute in winter—thus serving additional customers.

Fourth, the new propane-air peaking plants at Danville and Freeburg were completed and tested with excellent performance, providing a new source of gas in tight periods.

Fourth, a new pipeline was developed to allow the Shanghai storage field to be used for more than one supply area. Gas, however, will only be transferred from a supply area when it is not needed to supply customers in that area.

"All of these things, taken together," Meenen continued, "have enabled the company to issue these new permits. This does not indicate there is a loosening of a tight gas situation."

"Rather, it points up a system of planned management of supply which makes it possible to use our supplies more efficiently."

Meenen pointed out that the company hopes to release additional gas from time to time in the future through the further development of underground storage and similar peak-shaving devices.

He said the company is unable to say, however, when such supplies might become available and what the amounts might be.

The only solution to the whole problem is, of course, more pipeline gas from our suppliers," Meenen said.

"We do not, at this time, see that possibility for the immediate future."

Through management of the supplies we have, we will continue to do our best to serve the needs of our territory."

Illinois Power found it necessary in 1970 to start controlling its natural gas when federal and state programs to control air pollution increased the demand for natural gas to a point where some priority plan was required because of the limited natural gas supply.

At the same time, the company said the steady price of gas in comparison to the rising costs of other fuels resulted in an increased demand for natural gas.

The company, which serves natural gas to more than 320,000 customers in a 15,000 square-mile area of Illinois, urged that all who seek new gas service apply immediately in writing to the company's area and district offices.

Madison Police Begin Identification Program

Persons living in Madison who wish to participate in "Operation Identification" have been asked to phone the Madison Police at 876-4300 so that members of Explorer Post 104 may come to their homes on Saturday to mark portable items of value according to the Chief of Police, Frank D. No.

The program is designed to discourage theft and burglary by engraving a person's driver's license number on portable items such as TV sets, radios, cameras, bicycles and musical instruments. The driver's license number is used because it readily can be traced by any law enforcement agency.

A decal will be issued to participating homes to be placed on or near all points of entrance. The decals warn any would-be intruder that all valuable possessions have been marked and can be identified.

"There is no charge for this service," Dutko explained, "the Madison Lions Club helped us cover the costs of the decals and engraving tools, and I sincerely hope every citizen of Madison will take advantage of this program and call us."

"Last Saturday our Explorers marked over 100 household items for Madison people, and they are willing and able to go out again this Saturday as part of their continuing community service program."

Highway Sign Limit to Take Effect July 1

By JOAN MURARO
Copy News Service

Springfield—Through the department of transportation, the state of Illinois is about to become the sole—not too eager—owner of a heap of unusable signs, notices and billboards, which it will have to destroy once someone figures out how.

Just how many of the signboards the state will have to purchase is anybody's guess; until the new highway advertising control act becomes effective July 1.

How much it will cost also is an open guess at this time, as is the manner in which the signs will be destroyed.

Since they are mostly of wood and paper, putting a match to them seems the obvious answer; but state anti-pollution regulations forbid open burning.

Arch Blackard, chief appraiser in the bureau of right-of-way in the department, speculates that the state may have to incur additional expense and pay someone to dispose of them.

The state's entry into the billboard removal business is a side effect of the new law, which will tightly regulate the number, size, lighting and placement of signs along road-sides.

Basically, the law will bar any signboard placement closer than 600 feet from federal aid primary roads or interstate highway in the state.

But there are a number of exceptions. Incorporated areas which already have regulations on size, lighting and location of signs will continue to follow those regulations, for instance, if they conform to the intent of the law.

Exceptions also are made for business areas and unzoned commercial and industrial areas. In these cases some restrictions are set up.

Not banned are directional and "official" signs, such as historical markers, service club and church notices, certain signs on school bus shelters, signs on a property offering for sale or lease and signs on a property advertising services offered on the site.

Between July 1 and Sept. 28, persons owning signs must register them with the department, whether or not the signs are permissible in present locations.

There is a cost of $5 per sign, and owners will be sent either a red or blue metal tag which must be affixed prominently to the signboard within 60 days after it is received.

Blue tags will mean the sign is conforming and may stay; red will mean it is registered, but must come down.

After next Jan. 1, the department will begin removing non-registered, non-conforming signs.

After July 1, 1973, the owner will be given 30-day notices of pending removal of registered, non-conforming signs—permitting him to remove the sign if he wishes to keep it.

Otherwise, the state will offer compensation to the owner, and the site owner for his loss of income.

Once compensation is accepted and the state is given title to the sign, it will come down.

There will be no compensation for owners of signs not registered.

Federal funds pay for 75% of the cost of acquiring signs erected before 1965, while the state pays the whole total on signs put up after that.

By June 15, Blackard says, his office hopes to have available in the eight highway districts and one highway region or district showing primary and interstate highways involved.

About the same date, an intensive public information campaign will be started to acquaint the public with the law and its requirements and effects.

Registration will be handled in district and regional offices, where forms will soon be available, and inquiries should be directed there.

Telephone inquiries to area offices should be directed to the signboard coordinator, but communications by mail should be addressed to the regional or district engineer.

After July 1, a permit must be obtained before any new signs can be built, and all new signs must conform to the law—which specifically bars certain signs, such as those painted on rocks or natural features.

Plans for High Schools OK'd by School Board

Both Granite City senior high schools will offer separate and complete extra-curricular programs, including athletics, at all grade levels when the new school is completed for the 1973-74 year, it was decided by the Board of Education Monday night.

Each school also will offer a comprehensive academic program, but due to space limitations and the expense of duplicating vocational equipment, some vocational courses will be located in one school and some at the other.

In such cases, students will be transported during the day to the particular school offering the courses needed, while other courses will be taken at the home school.

Final recommendations on boundaries will be presented to the board by the administration at a later date and will depend on shifts in population.

With the new school, seventh and eighth graders will attend junior high schools and freshmen through seniors will attend the senior high schools.

Assembly Session May Be a 'Plus' For Gov. Ogilvie

By KEN WATSON
Copy News Service

Springfield—The current session of the Illinois legislature may prove a political plus for Republican Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie.

That's the view from the Statehouse Dome as the spring meeting moves toward its close, possibly about June 15.

There are certain to be the usual final days flareups, but so far Democrats in the legislature have failed to seriously trim Ogilvie's proposed budget or to embarrass him politically to any noticeable extent.

On the contrary, Ogilvie may be picking up some political points of his own as a governor who knows what he is doing and is moving wisely—if not always popular—to meet the state's problems.

Democratic legislative leaders felt themselves mouse-trapped when gubernatorial candidates Daniel Walker publicly declared he could out $500 million from the Ogilvie budget and then backed down when asked to appear before the House Appropriations Committee.

What budget-cutting has been done by legislative Democrats has generally been of the nit-picking variety, like cutting $700,000 from tourist promotion and slicing $2.2 million from the state fair appropriation, a traditional target for headline hunters.

However, Democrats have had no success as far as the "big league" items are concerned.

Although the issue is not yet decided, the governor's $361 million bond issue for capital developments has so far weathered preliminary attacks.

There are indications that Democrats are beginning to heed quiet warnings from construction unions and others that criticism of Ogilvie's highway and other job-producing capital programs are not being well.

Mobile Home Entered

A screen was torn and a window was forced open at the mobile home of William Whitehead, 2129 Ohio Ave. It was reported Monday by a neighbor. It was unknown if anything was missing.

received from workers throughout the state.

Walker has been receiving a definitely cool response from some important labor groups and leaders who reflect fears that his concentration on anti-tax and spending programs could jeopardize thousands of jobs now dependent on Ogilvie programs.

In the legislature, Democrats also failed to hurt Ogilvie on the sensitive welfare issue.

Despite some fireworks, a $129 million deficiency appropriation for the Public Aid Department was passed and quickly signed by the governor.

This prompt action assured there would be no delay in welfare checks which could have caused a political storm, especially in Chicago.

The Ogilvie budget allotments to higher education, severely criticized by some Democrats as well as most college presidents earlier in the year, also are standing up.

The University of Illinois lopped off 900 jobs to fit its reduced allotment from that originally asked.

The governor's budgetary provisions for elementary and secondary schools are being accepted despite occasional flashes of criticism from Democratic Michael J. Bakalis, state superintendent of public instruction.

Barring any unexpected reversals, it appears that Ogilvie will move out of the 1972 legislative session and into the fall campaign with a state administration in comparatively good shape financially and with its major programs still intact.

Republican strategists are hoping this will cause Illinois voters to increase their scrutiny of Walker and his campaign tactics.

State Chamber Seeks to Limit Assembly Sessions

The Illinois State Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday called for an end to unlimited, continuous annual sessions of the state Legislature.

The Chamber urged passage of legislation proposing a constitutional amendment to limit sessions of the Illinois General Assembly to a six-month session in odd-numbered years from January to July 1, and to a 90-day session in the even-numbered years to consider only appropriation and revenue measures.

A provision would enable the Governor or legislative leaders to call a special session for specific subjects. Such a provision would stop the proliferation of proposed bills which are unnecessary, introduced for election purposes, or are re-reads of bills tried the year before which failed, chamber officials said. This limitation would also allow the legislature to concentrate on a fewer number of important measures and give the legislators and the public assurances and dates certain for legislative business.

Two proposals have been introduced to restrict legislative sessions. They are SJR 55, which failed to garner enough votes in the Senate last fall, and HJR-CA-12, which was introduced this spring and has not yet been called for a vote in the House.

Too Many Bills
 Ralph I. Classen, chairman of the Board of the State Chamber, said "More than 6,250 bills have been introduced in the 77th General Assembly, with roughly half of them introduced since the January to July, 1971 session. These are more bills than any legislator has time or is able to read, let alone digest. We are losing some of our best citizen legislators who are leaving public service because they cannot maintain their business and/or professional activities and continue to serve in the legislature."

"The quality of due consideration of legislative proposals has not resulted from annual sessions as witnessed by the suspension of rules of public notice of hearings and the lack of availability of proposed legislation prior to legislative hearings. There is little or no time given for public notice of bills and their subject matter, prior to hearings and in many cases as witnessed by many on-the-scene observers—printed copies of bills have not been available to the public prior to, and in some cases, during committee hearings."

"The concept of a more deliberative body through annual sessions is not the case as legislators race to get bills introduced and passed prior to deadlines which give little or no time to consider the implications and ramifications of the burgeoning overflow of proposed laws."

Classen is vice-president and general production manager of Hiram Walker & Sons, Inc., Peoria.

Carnival Operator Reduces Free Rides

An apparent misunderstanding between the operator of a carnival, set up at 15th and State streets, and Granite City Police Department members in the Officer Friendly corps resulted in many disappointed youngsters who crowded the fair site yesterday looking for free rides.

Patrolman Roy Koberna, who organized the Officer Friendly program to reach local youth, said the carnival promoter "failed to live up to an agreement as we announced in Monday's Press-Record."

According to the police officer all area children between 5 and 10 years old were promised free rides from 1 to 3 p.m. Wednesday as part of Officer Friendly Day in Granite City.

Patrolmen waiting at the site to greet the youngsters heard numerous complaints from parents and children. They reported that tickets were made available only on a limited basis; youngsters were refused rides if not accompanied by an adult; and the free ride period was reduced from two hours to one. Officer Koberna said.

"None of these conditions were explained to us in advance, nor agreed upon," the policeman said. "We had a lot of people angry at us and we regret this situation occurred."

"The patrolmen in the Officer Friendly program want the children and parents who turned out for the event to know that none of the restrictions imposed were part of the understanding we had with the carnival operator," Officer Koberna stressed.

Personal Tax Protests To Be Filed With County

Quad-City area taxpayers who wish to pay their personal property taxes under protest pending a Supreme Court decision on the 1970 referendum favoring elimination of the personal tax will have to make such protests at the county treasurer's office in Edwardsville, it was reported here today.

Granite City Treasurer Paul Rutledge who will make the Granite City township collection in behalf of the county this summer said that local area collectors, and those in other parts of Madison county, will be unable to accept protests when the local collection period begins late this month.

Rutledge said that he and other area township collectors have been notified by County Treasurer George Musso that all protest payments must be made at the county treasurer's office and not at local collection points.

Rutledge said his office has received a flood of telephone inquiries concerning the procedure for making personal tax payments under protest since

Bus transportation will be provided for students who live more than 1½ miles from the school building, the principal said.

For a first day schedule calls for the faculty meeting and planning session from 9 to 10 a.m. Monday, with regular classes starting at 10 a.m. and concluding at noon.

Helium Balloon Back After 56-Mile Trip

One of the helium-filled balloons given away this week by American National Bank has just completed a 56-mile trip, half by air and half, through the U.S. Mail.

The balloon, with a note attached, was sent aloft by Kevin Allen, 14, and Kent Allen, 8, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Allen, 3711 Nameoki Road, and Junior Bonestead, 10, of 3715 Nameoki Road, Sunday evening. It was returned to the youths by mail Tuesday morning from Breese, Ill., 28 miles from Granite City by air.

In the envelope with the balloon was a note from Eugene Tibbe, Rural Route One, Breese, which said, "I found your balloon this morning (Monday) and I am sending it back to you. P.S. Let me know if you got this letter." They quickly replied.

Khoury All-Star Game Aug. 9

Sports fans in Missouri and Illinois are fond of comparing the relative merits of athletic teams on either side of the river. On Aug. 9, the Cardinals, in conjunction with Khoury League baseball and Ksd-tv, will take the subject out of the realm of speculation and onto the field of competition.

A seven inning game involving Khoury League All-Star teams from Missouri and Illinois will be played at Busch Memorial Stadium prior to the Cardinals' game with the New York Mets with a starting time of 6:00 p.m.

All-Star teams representing both states will be selected by Khoury League organization and will consist of boys from the Middle Division Leagues (11 to 13 years of age).

Purchase of a $3 reserved seat will allow fans to see the All-Star game and the Cardinals-Mets game and help build a future Khoury League Stadium.

The game will be videotaped for showing at a later date.

For ticket information, fans may write the Khoury League headquarters at 3220 Park Ave., St. Louis, or call 664-4141.

Wesleyan Names Scott Most Valuable Player

Jim Scott's play while leading Illinois Wesleyan University's baseball team in hitting paid a quadruple dividend to the former Madison High School athlete who now lives in Collinsville.

Scott, who hit .352, was voted the team's most valuable player for 1972, co-captain for 1973 and was named to the College Conference of Illinois and Wisconsin all-star team.

And, partly because he displayed late in the college season that he could do an acceptable job as an outfielder as well as a first baseman, Scott was picked to play for Bloomington's entry in the Central Illinois Collegiate League.

The league is in its 10th season of operation. Ken Holzman, Don Kessinger, Doug Rader, Joe Hogue, Denny Doyle and Eddie Leon are among the many major leaguers who have played in the CICL. Play begins June 13 in the six-team circuit at Carle Place, Peoria, Macomb, Galesburg and Charleston-Mattoon. Teams are made up of college players from across the nation.

"Jim had a great season," said Wesleyan coach Jack Hornberger. "He came out of the gate, both as a person and a player. He's much improved as a player and he can play anywhere. He has good wrists and he's a solid hitter, though a little bit streaky."

Scott opened the season at first base, but played both right and center fields after Wesleyan completed its spring training.

Scott hit .316 during the southern trip, opened the northern portion of the schedule with a three-for-five effort in a 12-inning 4-3 victory over the University of Illinois and wound up in a tie for 11th in the CCIL with a .333 average.

The left-handed swinging junior had 25 hits in 71 trips for the season, scoring 11 runs, driving in 10 for a team which had few runners on base while picking only 294 and belted five doubles, three triples and a home run.

He hit safely in 17 of 23 games as Wesleyan won 10 and lost 13. Hornberger now has coached the Titans to 309 victories against 287 losses in 28 seasons on the job.

Jim's sophomore brother, Bob, a reserve catcher, showed good hitting potential late in the season and could see increased action next season. He had three hits in seven times at bat for a .429 average.

Tennis Lessons
Persons interested in receiving tennis instruction will be accommodated again this year with lessons to be offered to residents of the Granite City Park District at the Wilson Park courts.

Lessons are provided boys and girls, between the ages of 8 through 17 years, and adults without cost, but each person is required to have his own tennis racket.

Tennis instruction will begin Monday, with the following schedule of classes arranged:

Girls—Monday and Wednesday at the park courts—8 and 9 years olds, from 9 to 10:30 a.m.; 10 and 11 years, from 10:30 a.m. to noon; and 12 to 17 years, from 1 to 2:30 p.m.

Boys—Tuesday and Thursday—8 and 9 years olds, from 9 to 10:30 a.m.; 10 and 11 years, from 10:30 a.m. to noon; and 12 to 17 years, from 1 to 2:30 p.m.

Adults may receive instruction on Tuesdays only, from 7 to 8:30 p.m.

By arranging the tennis lesson schedule between 9 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. on four week days only, the courts will be free for open play every afternoon and evening. Harold Brown, park superintendent, noted, "The same courts will be lighted daily from dusk to 10 p.m."

Two tournaments will be sponsored by the Granite City Park District this summer—the Southern Illinois Invitational and the park district's annual tournament. Contest dates presently are being finalized, Brown said.

Assistant Named
Dwayne Chaney, a teacher at Grigsby Junior High School, was appointed as assistant football coach at the school Monday night by the Granite City Board of Education. He also is the seventh grade basketball coach.

'We'll Be Back,' Coach Lee Predicts for Cougar Team

"We'll be back," Roy E. Lee, coach of the Southern Illinois University-Southwestern baseball team, predicts.

Lee's baseballers finished third in the Little World Series of the National Collegiate Athletic Association College Division championship finals held last weekend at Springfield, Ill.

Florida Southern's Mocs repeated as college division NCAA champions by turning back San Fernando Valley State of California, 5-1, Monday night.

The Cougars were rated No. 2 in the nation in the college division, two points behind Florida Southern and ahead of No. 3 San Fernando Valley in a final poll conducted by a college baseball newspaper.

Prior to the start of the season, Lee, in a very rare burst of candor for coaches, had predicted that his SIU-SW Cougars could, and would, win the national college division title. He missed by two positions as his Cougars racked up a tremendous 31-15-2 record for the season.

"In playing against two former national champions, San Fernando and Florida Southern, my boys now know what they must do to win a Little World Series," Lee mused after the tourney. He added: "Letting San Fernando rally and come back and beat us after we'd taken a 4-1 lead in the first game hurt our morale more than it should if we'd had the tournament." Lee said that goes with more experience.

Returning Sluggers
How about the future of baseball at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern? Returning from this season's slump will be five starters, all hitting well above .300. They are sophomore infielder-outfielder Tom Twellman, catcher Tim Summers, first baseman Bill Campbell, outfielder Ron Rohlfing and second baseman Jo Jo Crenshaw.

Loss by graduation will be Mike Allaria and Dan Cole. Twellman captured the SIU-SW batting title with a .332 batting average. Next was Summers with .338. Allaria took third with .334, which just barely edged Campbell's .331. Cole finished with .321, his lowest in three seasons as a Cougar.

Rohlfing, surging at the close, hit .318 Crenshaw, at .312, completed the list of SIU-SW regulars hitting over .300.

Batter averages of other Cougar regulars who went to bat 66 or more times were: John Belk, .273; Roger Belshie, .242; and Bobby Graves, .215.

Cougar Graduates

Lost by graduation will be three mainstay Cougar hurlers, Granite City's Ron Rains, Obion's Ron Middleton and Marion's Steve Malone. Rains finished with a 7-2 record, Middleton, in addition to pitching the only no-hitter in SIU-SW history, compiled a 7-4 mark, while Malone closed his college career with a 4-2 mark.

Any student of the game of baseball knows how important pitching is, so, how does SIU-SW hurling look for the 1973 season?

The answer rests in how well freshmen Joe Reuff and Nick Baltz come through next season, plus help from juniors Dale Wilderspin, Mike Dickey, Stan Hawkins and Sam Stewart, and sophomores Ken Desmarre. Help could come from junior college transfers, but most aid must come from the graduating high school pitchers Lee has been scouting.

They are the future, but Baltz and Restoff, who are two ice-cold and talented pitchers, must come through if Lee's prediction of "we'll be back" is to come true.

Overall, the Cougars' record of qualifying for three straight Midwest NCAA regional tourneys bids and making it to the finals the third season has to be one of the best in the annals of college baseball.

A rejuvenated Granite City American Legion baseball team, inactive for the past several seasons, resumed action yesterday by defeating East St. Louis 7-2 in an opener on the Coolidge Junior High School diamond.

Vic Reznack, GCHS ace, went all the way on the mound, allowing eight hits while fanning 11 batters and walking one.

Jack Scarborough stole four bases, Scarborough Mike Martinez and Tim Lyeria contributed two hits each for the winners.

Granite City took the lead in the first inning with two runs. Jim Forrester walked, stole second and was driven home on a single by Scarborough. Scarborough then stole second and third. Steve Burdge walked but got caught on an attempted steal. Mike Martinez tagged a single and Jeff Worthen doubled.

The winners added two more runs in the second inning as Reznack walked and was followed by three singles by Forrester, Scarborough and Tim Lyeria.

Schools Being Told—It's Results That Count

Copley News Service
Springfield—Illinois is going to start applying the time-honored "proof of the pudding" approach to certifying its schools.

With the start of the school year next fall, a new formula for school recognition and certification will go into effect, based on a plan still being finalized by a 14-member advisory group.

The plan must finally be approved by Michael Bakalis, state superintendent of public instruction.

And it will be subject to a series of public hearings to get public reaction to the program before it is registered with the secretary of state and becomes mandatory.

While the proposed plan makes a number of changes of past methods of evaluating schools, and securing cooperation in correcting problems, the biggest change at first reading lies in elimination of requirements that a specific amount of time must be spent teaching certain subjects.

Richard N. Small, director of recognition and supervision, says that in the past, schools have been required to teach 200 minutes of instruction in reading, or 200 minutes of mathematics, for example, each week.

"The assumption was that if they spent 200 minutes at it, they had learned to read, and if they had spent 190, they hadn't learned."

Now, says Small, schools will be given the opportunity to show that their programs are worth it.

What will be important is that the students are learning to read, to get a working knowledge of math, rather than merely demonstrating they spent the required amount of time on certain subjects.

In other words, emphasis will be put on how the pudding tastes, not on whether some substitutions may have been made in the recipe. Another major change in the proposed program will be a requirement that all school districts must provide availability of certain services, such as school nurses, and guidance and counseling programs.

How the districts handle the requirement will be up to them, Small said. In some districts, the school system may contract with an area nurse to be available, while in larger districts a nurse may be hired outright. However they handle it, the results will be, Small says, that a child in a school anywhere in Illinois will be sure he can get a service if he has a need for it.

Starting in September, visitation of schools will begin, for administrative review.

In October, evaluation teams headed by OSPI personnel but made up entirely of "education practitioners" not on the OSPI staff will begin visiting schools, starting with those which have had some difficulties in the past.

At the end of their inspection, they will submit reports to which the district must respond within 60 days.

Small estimates that one-third of the 1,140 public school districts and 200 private, independent or parochial school systems will be visited this year.

Since schools receive certification yearly, in the future certification may be on a two-stage system, with "first stage" certification awarded based on written reports of their programs, and "second stage" certification coming only after on-site inspection.

Small stressed that a delay between first and second phases will not reflect anything negative about a district, but will merely mean that the staff has not been able to get around to the personal visitation.

Also, the overhauled program, Small said, is to give greater flexibility and provide a stronger foundation for school programs. "Our goal," he said, "is not to certify schools, but to raise the quality of education available to boys and girls."

Sandra Kay Leonard, James Doroghazi Wed

Miss Sandra Kay Leonard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Olen H. Leonard, 341, Rounoke Drive, Belleville and James G. Doroghazi, 3148 Rodger Ave., were united in marriage June 3 at Upper Alton Baptist Church.

Major Meredith Thomas, U. S. Air Force, former pastor of the church, officiated at the afternoon ceremony at four o'clock.

For her wedding the bride chose a floor length gown of white dacon polyester organza. Pearl beading applied on imported Chantilly lace adorned the front bodice and trimmed the high collar, Empire waist and long, full sheer sleeves.

Matching lace appliques accented the slightly flared A-line skirt and traced the edge of the detachable chapel train.

A double bouffant veil, cascading the length of the train and edged in lace, was secured to a lace covered camelot hat and two short tiers of bridal illusion to create a mantilla look. She carried a bouquet of white roses, carnations and stephanotis.

Miss Rose Fleming, maid of honor, Miss Martha Leonard, sister of the bride, Miss Linda Haycraft, Miss Christy Kunz and Mrs. Sally Lawler, bridesmaids, were dressed in identical gowns.

Their formal length dresses were fashioned in lilac polyester organza, featuring a band of multi-colored embroidery, edged with white ruffled Val lace, encircling the high waistlines.

The decorative embroidered band was repeated on the collar.

Richard Kaiser was best man for the groom, serving with Richard Lawler, Bob Austin, Tom Doroghazi, brother of the groom, and David Leonard, the bride's brother. Michael Jansen was the ring bearer.

A reception was held in Peck Hall at the church immediately following the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Doroghazi are on a wedding trip in Wisconsin. They will reside at Manitowish, Wis., where the former is in a management training program with the S. S. Kresge Co.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Granite City High School and has served two years in the U. S. Army.

The former Miss Leonard is a graduate of Belleville High School-East and Belleville Area Junior College.

Melee at Drive-In Broken by Police; Youths Arrested

Dean Kerner Jr., 19, of Newton, Ill., faces four charges as the result of a melee at the Burger King Drive-In Tuesday night when two others were arrested at a youth gathering.

He reported at the Granite City police station at 11:30 a.m. Wednesday after an altercation with the police the night before when he was charged with resisting a police officer, theft of handcuffs, escape and illegal possession of marijuana.

Patrolmen Donald Knight and Dennis Cheneault were on the scene after a disturbance was reported at 10:25 p.m. after a boy, 16, walked in front of an auto on Nameoki Road.

The car stopped, and a fight ensued as about 25 youths converged on the scene. Youth C. Barham, 30, of 3217 Wilshire Drive, the driver, was charged with disorderly conduct.

Two other persons, Terry Kelahan, 20, of Washington Avenue, and the boy, also were arrested. Kelahan was charged with resisting arrest and disorderly conduct.

Officers said they were parked across the street from the drive-in when the disturbance arose. They said they arrested Kerner and the boy. Kerner ran, and was caught and handcuffed behind his back and placed in the patrol car.

They reported that another youth then approached, yelling and screaming at the officers, and was arrested after he refused to leave and started fighting with the police officers.

Meanwhile, Kerner left the patrol car and ran, still handcuffed. His motorcycle parked on the drive-in lot was towed away, and he was held after coming to the police station to claim it at 2:30 a.m. Wednesday.

Police said tests of the substance found on Kerner proved to be marijuana.

Ebersoldt Bolts Meeting; Payroll Passed

William "Mike" Ebersoldt of Venice, president of the three-man board of trustees of the Dist. Side Levee and Sanitary District, walked out of a regular meeting of the board yesterday in a dispute with Lawrence Tolar, East St. Louis board member, over adoption of a resolution that would have retired all levee district employees over the age of 65.

Ebersoldt opposed the resolution, he said, because it would affect about 19 levee district employees, many of whom would like to go on working.

After Ebersoldt left the levee district offices in East St. Louis, Tolar and James Pirtle, also of East St. Louis, a meeting in which they named Harry Redman, an officer of the Economic Employment Agency of East St. Louis, as chairman, although Redman is not a member of the levee board. Redman made no motions and did not vote, but merely sat in the president's chair during the meeting.

Tolar and Pirtle approved the monthly payroll under a resolution passed earlier this year providing the payroll could be adopted by two members of the board.

Tolar followed Ebersoldt out of the building and asked him to return, but Ebersoldt remarked, "You and Pirtle run the district for a while."

The dispute arose during a caucus session just before the regular meeting was to convene at 10 a.m. Tolar presented the resolution to Ebersoldt and the argument ensued. The resolution would have become effective July 1.

Hearing Will Not Affect Airport Site—Saunders

Another hearing on the Wat-erloo-Columbia site in Illinois for a new major St. Louis area airport is not expected to affect the processing of the Illinois grant acquisition funds, Arven H. Saunders, executive director of the St. Louis Metropolitan Area Airport Authority, indicated in a weekend statement.

Saunders' statement followed announcement by Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe that the Federal Aviation Administration will conduct an additional hearing on the site "in view of the unique situation that exists with respect to the proposed airport, and to make the record as complete as possible, assuring that all viewpoints and all relevant information could be fully presented."

In response, Saunders said: "We are not disturbed by the Secretary's (Volpe) ruling. The new hearing will have no material impact on the processing order is before the FAA and DOT. of our application. Our full rec-ord shows that we are happy to comply with the decision on an additional hearing."

An additional hearing was requested last month by the Missouri-St. Louis Airport Authority to introduce a Systems Analysis Research Corp. report showing that Lambert Field (St. Louis International Airport) could serve as a first class airport through 1980.

Eagles to Present $1,000 Check to School District

A $1,000 check for the purchase of equipment for handicapped children's classes will be presented to Granite City School District 9 by Eagles Aerie 1126 and auxiliary during a program at the Aerie Home, 26th Street and Madison Avenue, at noon Sunday.

The funds were collected by the Eagles - Jimmie Duranite Crippled Children's Fund which makes several presentations each year to schools or organizations which assist handicapped children. The Granite City schools were selected by the large number of handicapped and retarded children who are helped in special education classes.

Accepting the check on behalf of the school district will be B. J. Davis, superintendent of schools, and Vasil Eftimoff, administrative assistant - pupil personnel.

at that time, contending three hearings in Illinois and five in Missouri held by the St. Louis Metropolitan Area Airport Authority complied with the 1970 Airport and Airway Development Act, and further hearings on the Illinois petition were not required.

Volpe, in an effort to halt the dispute over whether the airport should be in Illinois or at an undersigned site in Missouri, assigned Rear Adm. Russell L. Waeche to see if agreement between the two sides could be reached.

After two months of meetings, including a joint meeting May 22, Waeche reported that there was "no basis upon which all interested jurisdictions" might agree on a site.

A date and time for the hearing are expected to be announced by the FAA later this month. FAA Regional Director John M. Crocky of Kansas City will conduct the hearing.

Meanwhile, Illinois continues to back its site with funds. The state House of Representatives voted to approve $1.5 million to continue the operation of the St. Louis Metropolitan Area Airport Authority. The measure now goes before the Senate for approval.

The amount matches the appropriation made for the authority for the current fiscal year. The authority spent only $251,253 of the appropriation, mostly for airport studies and consultants.

The Eagles Club also is active in the annual cancer, heart and multiple distrophy campaigns and members assist in the "Meals on Wheels" program for senior citizens. The club also provides youth guidance and counseling.

At the meeting, the new Eagles president, George Mathenia, will be installed by the outgoing president, Bob Stanton.

An Eagles District 7 meeting, a banquet and an evening of dancing will follow the installation and presentation of the grant.

"OLD POLICY"

NOT ANOTHER NEW POLICY . . .

All of a sudden a lot of our competitors are shouting . . . even screaming . . . that they have a "NEW POLICY!"

They say they are lowering the prices on hundreds, even thousands, of items in their stores.

We pledge to you that we won't (and never have been) be undersold on any items . . . in fact we keep a full staff checking our competitors' prices so that when they do lower any items, you can be sure you won't be paying any more for them in your TRI-CITY stores.

This type of POLICY is nothing NEW at Tri-City Grocery Co. . . In fact, looking back after 58 years in this business, we can truthfully say, OUR OLD POLICY REMAINS THE SAME, "GIVE THE CUSTOMER THE MOST FOR THEIR DOLLAR!"

Miss Ramona Narvaez, Wayne Welborn Are Wed

Miss Ramona Narvaez became the bride of Wayne Welborn in an evening ceremony June 3 at the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints in East St. Louis.

The father of the groom, the Rev. Daniel Welborn, officiated at the 7 o'clock service.

For her wedding, the bride selected a white nylon organza gown designed in an A-line silhouette, featuring a high neckline and short capped sleeves. Rows of re-embroidered lace accented the bodice, encircled the high Empire waist and were repeated on the full skirt to form a wide band at the hemline.

Matching lace delicately edged the detachable chapel length train. A white satin bow headpiece secured a shoulder length veil of bridal illusion and carried a cascade bouquet of daisies and lilies.

Miss Linda Durer, the maid of honor, and Miss Kim Boelinger, bridesmaid, wore identical gowns of white scalloped cotton Venice lace over lilac tulle. Narrow ruffles trimmed the high necklines, detailed with tiny orchid velvet bows in the front.

Short puffed sleeves were set in the fitted bodices and wide sashes at the waist gathered the slightly controlled skirts.

The attendants wore large picture hats of lilac spun straw and each carried a nosegay of daisies, tied with orchid satin streamers.

Gary Bathon was the best man and Stanley Lapinski served as groomsman.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Mildred Narvaez, 1019 Third St., Venice and Jose Narvaez, 1424 Fifth St., Madison. Mr. Welborn's parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Daniel R. Welborn, reside at 1735 Third St., Madison.

A reception for guests was given immediately following the ceremony in the church fellowship hall.

The former Miss Narvaez attended school in Venice. Her husband received his education at Madison schools. He is employed at McDonnell-Douglas Corp. in St. Louis.

The couple will reside in Madison.

SPECIAL CARE OF HOLLY

Yellow leaves and leaf drop seem an annual event for American Holly. But extra care can help you improve growth and beauty.

Wind burns and cold always take a toll of holly leaves when the tree is on a windswept corner. But low fertility and insects may be the real cause when the problem is severe and unexpected.

Leaf drop in late winter often is due to sun and wind burn during a cold winter snap. Mulching to prevent deep freezing of the soil and a canvas or burlap windbreak usually helps to preserve the foliage and well-fare of these windwept trees. Springtime leaf drop as new growth appears is often due to low fertility. As new shoots and flowers develop fertility is drawn from older leaves to produce growth.

Extra fertilizer for this evergreen will help preserve these older leaves. Special fertilizers for acid loving plants like Azaleas and Rhododendrons is recommended. In early spring apply 1/2 lb. of fertilizer per one foot of height of the tree. Scatter the fertilizer on the soil beneath the branches, but not too close to the stump.

PRUNING LILACS

Annual pruning will promote annual flowering while you control size and remove unproductive stems.

French and Persian lilacs become overcrowded and overgrown unless you prune out occasional stems each year.

Thumb sized stems will be just as productive as larger stems if you give them space and sunlight. Each May, after bloom prune out stems which are 4 to 5 years old. Cut them off at ground level. Thin out the young shoots so each has growing room and sunlight. A few minutes each year will produce an attractive plant near 6 feet tall.

BLOOMING LILACS

Lilacs will bloom better if you promptly prune the old flowers to prevent seed development.

Seed and next years flowers both develop during June. Unless you promptly cut off the developing seed the plant will not develop adequate growth of new shoots to develop next years flowers.

CRAIGGRASS & BLUEGRASS
Seven times more crabgrass appeared in bluegrass than the height of cut was 1 1/2 inches compared with 2 1/2 inches. This was the summary of an article written by Turf Specialist Diehl of the University of Maryland for Parks Maintenance Magazine. Prof. Diehl reported the 2 1/2 inch cut affected crabgrass by shading as well as filtering out the red component of normal sunlight.

The red component of sunlight promotes seed germination. When sunlight was filtered through green leaves the red component was removed and crabgrass seed was inhibited from germinating. Prof. Diehl contends the tall cut produced an abundance of leaves which filtered out the red component as well as shading the new seedlings to prevent development.

Another aspect of the report showed a sharp increase in number of bluegrass plants per square foot compared with short cut. The increase resulted in more shading and direct competition of many weeds to produce more quality of turf and steady reduction of unwanted varieties of grass and broadleaf plants.

GARDEN CUTWORMS

Cutworms are fat caterpillars that often chew off new transplants and hide in the soil near the cut stub.

Cutworms travel at night to converge on the nearest tender plant they can find. They are known to travel down the row and topple several seedlings in a single night. Cutworms are smooth gray-to-black caterpillars 1/2 to 1 1/2 inches long. They hide in the soil within 3 inches of the last cut stub.

Control is difficult with garden sprays. These fat worms are partially resistant. Spray the soil surface in all directions with carbaryl. Light watering or a recent shower before you spray helps control. One treatment should be adequate.

SPRAY AMERICAN HOLLY

Holly leaf miner can be easily controlled with two sprays of a new systemic insecticide, "Cygon."

Holly leaf miner produces yellowish trails through the leaves of American Holly and ruins the appearance of many handsome holly trees. Old leaves will be riddled by the larva tunnels if the insect is damaging your plant.

Two applications of Cygon will eliminate this insect pest. Mix Cygon (Dimethoate) with water at the rate of two teaspoons per gallon. This system will penetrate the leaves and destroy the larva. Use your garden hose sprayer to apply your first spray during the second week of May and another application about May 25. Follow the directions on the package.

CHICKWEED IN LAWNS

If you have patches of yellow colored weeds in your lawn, it's probably chickweed.

This lawn problem isn't getting worse but showing up better as the plants ripen and gradually die. If you are tempted to use a weed killer to finish off this pest, you will get plenty of satisfaction. But the weed killer won't deserve the credit because chickweed will soon die and disappear regardless of the treatment.

Gentle raking will remove most of the dying plant and help nearby bluegrass to spread into these small bare areas.

Granite City PRESS-RECORD
Thurs., June 8, 1972 Page 19

EASTERN TENT CATERPILLAR

Masses of white webbing in the crotches of tree limbs are produced by the developing larva of Eastern Tent Caterpillar.

It's not too late to treat your tree to prevent severe damage from this hoard of hungry worms. Spray the branches and foliage near these tents with carbaryl. Don't concentrate on the nest! If the trees are already stripped of leaves spray as many of the stripped branches as you can reach. One spray application is adequate.

DANDELIONS

Dandelions are easy to control with one application of 2, 4-D. An extra bonus will be control of several other species of broadleaf weeds too.

A popular combination of herbicides for broadleaf weeds in home lawns is a mixture of 2, 4-D and Silvex. The combination has a broad spectrum of control with the same degree of safety.

When economy has a great deal to do with the liquid mixtures you mix with water and apply with your own sprayer. When you follow the directions on the bottle and get even coverage you can be sure of success.

The same combination of 2, 4-D and Silvex are packaged as granular products for use in lawn spreaders. Formerly as combination (weed and feed) with fertilizer, these special products offer you the same degree of control and extra convenience of application.

Fellowships Available To Minority Groups
Minority group individuals living in Illinois or the St. Louis metropolitan area are eligible for fellowships being offered by the Graduate School of Southern Illinois University-Southwest.

Boy Peterson, Graduate School assistant dean, said the intent of the fellowships is "to encourage full-time pursuit of graduate work by qualified individuals who because of their economic situation can't continue their education beyond the baccalaureate level."

The fellowships will provide $250 per month and pay tuition for the academic year. The awards are designed to encourage students to initiate, continue or resume graduate studies for services to their communities as skilled individuals in government, community organizations and industry.

The fellowships should allow the opportunity for total involvement in Metro-East communities and provide ample time for a valid commitment to urban development, social involvement and human reconciliation," Peterson said.

Applicants must meet admission requirements of the SIU-SW Graduate School and the specific department in which they wish to work and provide evidence of financial need. Applications must be completed by July 15. They are available from the Graduate School, Box 46, Southern Illinois University, Edwardsville 62025. The fellowships begin with the fall quarter.

Judy Collins Rated One Of The Best in Music

By JUDY HUGG
Copley News Service

Judy Collins, who has weathered the storm of musical changes for the past 10 years, still ranks high in the upper echelon of popular music as a songwriter, musician and performer.

Of course, talent is the prime requisite to success in any business and Judy's longevity in the field attests to her being a master of her craft — music.

One thing that is extremely pleasing about Judy's music is the fact that one can put several LPs on the turntable and not find it repetitious.

And for those who are true lovers of the Collins sound, there isn't a better LP than her latest on Elektra entitled "Color Of The Day: The Best Of Judy Collins." It may be purely commercial, but it happens to be one of the best that money can buy.

Judy Collins is unique. For over the past 10 years, she has established herself as one of the best interpretive singers of contemporary music. She has done it with the combination of a breathtakingly pure and beautiful voice coupled with an exceptional intelligence in choosing material.

Unusual Material In addition, the songs have always been meticulously arranged and produced so that the results have been a succession of near-flawless albums filled with wide-ranging and unusual material.

Now we finally get those 12 songs that have been taken from her recent albums and compiled by producer Mark Abramson into "Color Of The Day: The Best Of Judy Collins."

The songs on this platter range from a cappella to country to orchestra through chamber work and simply two guitars. This is a great feat which most female stars just can't hack, yet here the whole fuses together with one and comes into harmony.

In looking at the LP, we come to the beginning of "In My Life," which was a turning point for both Judy and popular music. For it was that album which marked a turning point for her away from traditional folk music to the works of her contemporaries.

The platter contained songs by Lennon-McCartney's "In My Life," which may be the best version of that song ever recorded, Donovan's "Sunny Goodge Street" and the then unknown Leonard Cohen's "Suzanne."

All showed the talent and respect that was due with a highly dramatic material.

Melodic Material "Wildflowers" brought another first — Judy's first foray into writing her own material. "Since You Asked" was the first song she ever wrote and was a forecast of the increasingly strong and melodic material which was to come later. It included "My Father" and "Albatross."

With "Who Knows Where The Time Goes," and "Whales And Nightingales" she continued to strengthen her command of complex and difficult material. And to prove that her audience understands quality, this album contains two hit singles: "Both Sides Now" and "Amazing Grace."

This platter is just a token remembrance to her general public because there are many Judy Collins songs that probably will never leave the hearts of many folk fans. Just to mention one that is superb is the "Song For The Open Road" or "Judith's Song."

It is good to see more of Judy, for it seems that she now and then gets lost in the traffic to the gate, however, as a mark of the true craftsman, you can't lose her in the crowd. She always seems to be one token or one step ahead of the crowd.

For a real pleasure in listening, "The Best Of Judy Collins" just can't be beat, she has a way with her songs that belongs back to the very beginning; yet you can't help but associate it with the new.

Search for Trust "Must pick the LP as one of the best so far in '72, for in the album she speaks directly to all of us in our search for something in which to believe, in which to trust, and on which to rely."

"Grease," described as "a new '50s rock 'n' roll musical," has been called "the 'No, No, No Nette' for the younger generation." Book, music and lyrics were penned by Jim Jacobs and Warren Casey and they hit the feel of the '50s right on.

When you hear "Rock 'n' Roll Party Queen," "Freddie, My Love" and "Those Magic Changes," you will be swept back into the world of duck-tails, motorcycle jackets worn over pegged pants, the cigarette pack tucked into the rolled-up T-shirt sleeve, girls in beehive hairdos and pedal pushers or long felt skirts with crinolines.

On the MGM label, the original cast recording of the Off-Broadway musical hit is a hilarious, nostalgic look at the "good old days" of rock 'n' roll. The cast is excellent and the orchestrations by Michael Leonard are great.

"One of the greatest film scores I have ever heard," is the way Rex Reed describes "The Garden of the Finzi-Continis," and after listening to the original soundtrack recording

RCA, chances are you'll agree. The Vittorio De Sica movie, which received an Oscar for the best foreign-language picture of the year, is the story of a rich Jewish family in wartime Italy. The music, composed and conducted by Joe Brooks, is melodious and melodic, easy listening. The haunting "Micol's Theme" is especially nice.

"Ed Ames Remembers Jim Reeves" (RCA) is a sincere tribute to the great country star who died in a plane crash in 1964. The warm, relaxed voice of Ed Ames is perfect on such great classics as "Blue Side of Lonesome," "His It Really Over?" and "Home."

Chet Atkins says, "Jim's recordings have done more to promote country music than all other country stars combined," and this memorial to Jim Reeves by Ed Ames should follow in that tradition.

MORMON BOOKS. The Rev. Sebe Morgan, right, president-elect of the St. Louis District of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, presents books on Mormon history to Lovejoy Library at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern. Receiving them is Prof. Raymond Troyer, left, of the Education Division, a member of the reorganized church. John Abbott, director of Lovejoy Library, looks on.

Mormon Books Enrich Lovejoy Collection

Thirty books have been added to the Mormon collection at Lovejoy Library at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern, according to director John Abbott.

A gift of the St. Louis District of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, the books were presented by Rev. Sebe Morgan of Independence, Mo., who will become president of the St. Louis District June 4.

Among the 30 books are facsimiles of the 1830 edition of the Book of Mormon; Book of Commandments (1833), setting forth the original doctrine of the church; and Doctrine and Covenants, published in 1835.

According to Morgan, Lovejoy Library has the best collection of Mormon material outside of Salt Lake City. More than 100,000 frames of microfilm on Mormon history are housed in the library. The material is available to area historians.

The sources of Mormon history include letters, diaries, autobiographies and other unpublished materials gathered from several individuals and from about 40 institutions, Abbott said.

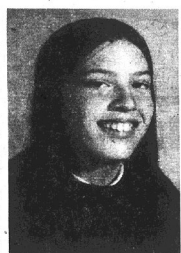

Another major component of the collection is a large number of newspapers and periodicals. Also in the collection are many documents printed by state and local governments.

Four Earn Master's In Regional Planning

Among the students graduating Saturday from Southern Illinois University-Southwestern will be the first four to earn the master of science degree in city and regional planning.

One of the graduates, Larry Rothrock of Edwardsville, said the new degree led the Tennessee State Planning Commission to hire him as the agency's principal planner. Rothrock and his wife will move to Nashville later this month.

"The thing I like best about the master's degree program is that it's interdisciplinary," Rothrock said. "We got exposed to economics, sociology, government, geography and other disciplines. It's not all planning courses, where you're kept within narrow limits."

The degree, requiring 72 hours of credit beyond the bachelor's level, is more demanding than the normal 48-hour master's degree requirement in most other departments. Begun last year, the degree is an expansion of the more established 48-hour master's degree program in urban geography.

Another graduate, Darryl Thompson of Waterloo, said the new degree program is filling a real need in the area.

"I couldn't have received this degree anywhere but at SIU-SW," said Thompson, a planner with the Southwestern Illinois Law Enforcement Commission. "And the program itself was exciting. I can't say enough about the faculty involved—they couldn't have been more helpful."

Other students earning degrees in the June commencement are Dennis Patton, already working as a planner in Charlotte, N. C., and Kenneth Leonard, currently employed as a planner in Madison, Wis. The degree program is under the supervision of the earth sciences department. Melvin Kazeck, department chairman, said the program is part of SIU-SW's commitment to the urban area around it.

"The field of city and regional planning provides a range of opportunities for students who wish to help solve environmental problems," Kazeck said.

Federal Funds for SIU-SW Students Delayed to July

SIU-SW students applying under several financial aid programs will have to wait until July to learn if they will receive awards, Roy Pettigrew, director of student work and financial assistance, has reported.

"The delay in informing students about financial aid for the academic year starting in September is the result of slow action by Congress on a multi-billion dollar higher education assistance act, he related.

"There is a good chance federal money to this university will be increased substantially, but right now I just don't know for sure," Pettigrew said. Some of the aid programs affected are educational opportunity grants, national defense loans, student work, study and others involving money.

Nurse Training Film Completed at Campus

New concepts in the training of nurses are illustrated in a film just completed by Don Magary, director of motion picture productions in University News Services at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Entitled "Nursing is..." the 13-minute color film stresses that nurses today must be prepared to respond intelligently and with sensitivity to a broad spectrum of their patients' needs, psychological as well as physical.

"At the same time they should have the opportunity during training to re-creations to develop themselves academically and culturally," Lucille McClelland, dean of the Nursing Division, said in commenting on the new film.

In the film the nursing profession is seen in historical perspective through re-creations of significant episodes in the career of Florence Nightingale, portrayed by Nancy Hundsdorfer, SIU-SW student from Belleville.

Karen Bligh of Alton, who completed work on a bachelor's degree in nursing at SIU-SW in January and is now on the staff of Cardinal Glennon Hospital in St. Louis, is cast as a student nurse in the film.

Sponsored by the Nursing Division, the documentary was filmed on the SIU-SW campus, at neighboring hospitals and health facilities and in the surrounding community. Mona Rudy and Dolores Smiley were faculty advisers and Dean McClelland served as consultant.

Original music for the film is by James Betts, SIU-SW music major from Collinsville.

Workshop in Music Planned at Campus

A workshop based on the Zoltan Kodaly concepts of music education will be held June 12-17 at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern in Room 1402 of the Peck Classroom Building.

Kodaly believed that a child should learn music daily, as he learns reading or mathematics, and that every child can and should learn music as early as possible so that he can read it as easily as he does his mother tongue.

Special guest clinician will be Arpad Darazs, a graduate of the Royal Franz Liszt Conservatory of Music in Budapest, Hungary.

Graduation Night Set At Six Flags Resort

Graduation night was never like this! Rock bands, classic funny flicks and more than 50 rides and attractions are among the highlights at the second annual Kook Senior Nite set for tonight at Six Flags Over Mid-America.

Almost 5,000 high school seniors celebrated their graduation at the all-night party last spring, so the huge entertainment center, southwest of St. Louis, scheduled it again.

The fun begins at 11 p.m. and goes all night long. The rock bands play continuously in front of the Palace Theater to allow a large area for dancing.

Tickets for the graduation celebration are available at any CMC store or from the radio station Kook. No tickets will be sold at the park.

50,000 Drivers Fail

Last year alone, over 50,000 Illinois licensed drivers failed the state written examination. This year the number of drivers that will fail could jump to a hundred thousand or more. Experts say — "One reason is, that rules and regulations change, and even some good safe drivers just don't keep up with the new laws." If your license expires this year, you may be among the hundreds of thousands that will be re-examined in 1972. So if you're nervous about taking the state written exam, here's good news. You can now purchase your own "self-scoring" test papers, complete with questions, answers and a road sign you should know for that important examination day. This method has helped thousands pass the state exam. Introductory price just $6 plus 75 cents handling. (Check or money order only.) Mail to AA-AA School of Safe Driving, 604 N. Student Volunteer Aids Alton State Patients

Dave Seibert, a student at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern, is working up to 40 hours per week with patients at Alton State Hospital.

Many other SIU-SW students who attend the university full-time also have full-time jobs. What is unusual about Seibert is that all his work is on an unpaid, volunteer basis.

Kimble Funk, coordinator of the SIU-SW Community Involvement Project, said Seibert is the most ambitious volunteer he has worked with since coming to the university two years ago. Funk's main activity is to find university students and a faculty for volunteer work in community agencies throughout Madison and St. Clair Counties.

Seibert, a senior majoring in special education, has spent most of his time at the state hospital with two 19-year-old male patients, one from Alton, the other from Madison.

Two Years Education

One of the youths has only about two years of formal education, Seibert said, mainly because his parents did not care whether he attended school. The youth committed himself to the hospital because he did not feel that he had a home.

"I've been tutoring him in mathematics and reading mainly," Seibert said. "When I started he could read at the Dick and Jane level, and then only with trouble. Now we're starting fourth and fifth grade readers."

When possible, Seibert takes the patients away from the hospital, into the community. Fishing trips, sightseeing or "just feeling around" are some of the activities Seibert leads.

"It's been necessary to build up trust with the guys," he said. "Now we've got a pretty stable relationship. The people at the hospital have been good about giving me freedom—they don't say you have to be here at this minute and there at that minute."

Volunteer Work

Seibert started his volunteer work as a result of a counselor education course taught by assistant Prof. Don Repovich.

As part of the course, students had an option of doing 40 hours of volunteer work during the academic quarter. Repovich gave out a list of community agencies that students could call, and Seibert called Alton State Hospital.

"Originally I planned to put in four hours every Monday for 10 weeks, get my grade for the course and stop," Seibert said. "But I got involved with what I was doing and kept going to the hospital Monday and every other day I've been able to."

Seibert, of Tower Lake Apartments and a native of Belleville, said his work with the patients has been aided by the Community Involvement Project staff.

The project has allocated funds to buy books for Seibert for use in his tutoring at the hospital.

"There are books at the hospital I use, but I thought if some clothes for the guys—the have books they could write the books they could call their own," he said. "The Community Involvement Project also has given me money to buy some clothes for the guys—the shopping trip gave them a chance to make some choices of their own—at the hospital most decisions are made for the patients."

Work a Help

June Meyers, a special education teacher at Alton State Hospital and Seibert's supervisor, said Seibert's work has been a help.

"Dave has been consistent—you always know he's coming," she said. "He's been able to establish a relationship with the patient who badly needed friendship. He takes the patient into the community, does things with him outside, which is very important because this is a young man who had no desire to leave the hospital."

Funk said he would like to place more volunteers like Seibert through the Community Involvement Project.

"Only by going to the hospital and spending time there can you realize the grime of the regimented life, especially when no one visits you and you don't have anywhere to go on weekends," Funk said.

Howard-Louis Nuptials At First Presbyterian

Yellow chrysanthemums and green ferns decorated the sanctuary of the First United Presbyterian Church June 3 for the noon ceremony uniting in marriage Miss Cynthia Beth Louis of Mountain View, Calif., and Albert Lee Howard II of Los Altos, Calif.

The Rev. David Maxton officiated at the double ring ceremony. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. George P. Louis, 30 Oaklawn Drive, and Mrs. Wayne Howard of Watsonville, Calif., and the late Major Wayne Howard, U. S. Air Force.

Mrs. Isabelle Schmidt presided at the organ and played "When Thou Art Near," "Allegretto Cantabile," "Andante" and "Melody."

Escorted down the white carpeted aisle and given in marriage by her father, the former Miss Louis chose a full length gown of white organza over tulle featuring an Empire waistline. Accented with a bodice of re-embroidered Alencon lace and yellow satin ribbon, the frock was designed with a sheer lace yoke and a tiny standup collar, edged in Venice lace daisy motifs.

Matching Alencon lace formed the drop shoulder line and highlighted the long Juliet sleeves, cuffed in lace. A yellow satin bow secured the chapel length train at the shoulder, and lace appliques, centered with yellow satin ribbons, cascaded down the center of the train.

Her headpiece was a profile of yellow Venice lace motifs and organza bows and she carried a full cascade bouquet of yellow daisies and baby breath. Mrs. Betty Hilla, matron of honor and Miss Janis Louis, sister of the bride, bridesmaid, appeared in identical formal length dresses of yellow organza tulle. The Empire bodices featured a yoke of Venice lace daisies and matching lace trimmed the delicate standup collar and cuffed the long, sheer puffed sleeves.

New Title for All-Star Insurance Co. Officer

Milwaukee — The election of J. Roger Motherway as vice-president-underwriting was announced today by All-Star Insurance Corporation. He had been assistant vice president-underwriting.

The company also announced a policy of retaining higher amounts of insurance risks for its own accounts and revisions in its reinsurance treaty, both of which should favorably affect its 1972 and future years earnings. It is subsidiary of the Post Corp., Appleton, Wis., owner of the Press-Record.

Officers said All-Star's earnings will be affected by these changes:

1. Retroactive to Jan. 1, the company is increasing its retention on property and casualty risks to $25,000 per risk. Previously, its limits had been $15,000 for casualty risks and $20,000 for property risks.

2. The company will receive $114,000 from its reinsurer resulting from an additional retrospective experience rating adjustment for the period ending Dec. 31, 1971.

3. Adjustment in commissions paid by the reinsurer to All-Star will result in a refund to All-Star of $35,000 for the first quarter of 1972.

Officers estimated that the company's ability to retain more of each risk, resulting from its increased size, may result in increased net earnings of as much as $125,000 annually, if the favorable underwriting results of 1971 are maintained.

Higher loss experience, on the other hand, will have a more significant adverse effect on earnings, since more of each loss will be borne by the company.

All-Star, a specialty lines firm dealing in property and casualty underwriting, is 99.7% owned by the Post Corp., a diversified firm with media and insurance operations in eight states.

Motherway was an underwriting manager for the special risk division of Great American Insurance Co. for the middle west and southwestern areas and also was a surplus lines broker for several years before joining All-Star. He has served with United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co. and Allstate Insurance Co. in underwriting.

Steel Imports Show Decline During April

U. S. imports of foreign-made steel dropped during April, according to American Iron and Steel Institute.

Government data available to AISI shows that 938,000 tons of imported steel entered this country during that month. The total includes 8,000 tons of fabricated structural shapes and steel blanks, April was the first month this year in which steel imports failed to reach at least one million tons.

The 285,000 tons of foreign sheet and strip which arrived in the U. S. during the month accounted for nearly one-third of April's steel mill product imports. Other imports included 143,000 tons of pipe and tubing, or 15% of the month's total, and 109,000 tons of unfabricated structural shapes, which accounted for nearly 12% of April's total imports of steel mill products.

In addition 93,000 tons of bars and bar shapes, and 65,000 tons of plates arrived in the United States from abroad during the month.

Through the first four months of 1972, steel imports reached 4,288,000 tons. Imports of fabricated structural steel and steel blanks during this period totaled 40,000 tons.

The 20,000 tons of alloy steel which arrived from abroad during April pushed 1972 imports of these products past the 95,000 ton mark. More than 10,000 tons of foreign stainless steel landed at U. S. ports dur-

Drug Abuse Seminar Planned at Scott AFB

A seminar on drug use and abuse will be held June 12-17 under the direction of Joseph Hupert, lecturer in the Education Division at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern.

The seminar, at Scott Air Force Base, will be limited to 40 persons who by virtue of their profession or position desire to increase their capabilities in dealing with drug problems, Hupert said.

Seminar arrangements are being handled by the SIU-SW department of secondary education and University Extension Services with materials and personnel contributed by the Ford Foundation in New York; the Illinois department of health education in the office of Michael Bakalis, state superintendent of public instruction; the Drug Abuse Council Inc. of Washington D. C., and the social action office at Scott Air Force Base.

Reservists, Guardsmen Due Time Off to Train

Employers in Illinois are being reminded that Reservists and National Guardsmen are entitled to time off from their jobs to perform active duty for training.

The reminder came from John W. Beatty, area administrator of the Labor-Management Services Administration, U. S. Department of Labor, in Chicago.

Upon their return from training, Reservists and National Guardsmen have a legal right to be restored to their positions with the same seniority, status, pay and vacation rights as they held previously.

The law also prohibits any kind of employment discrimination against Reservist or Guardsman because of his participation in the program.

Beatty pointed out that military training duty for Guardsmen and Reservists normally occurs during the summer months, and it can be expected that most of them will be absent from employment for two or three weeks of training during this period.

Reservists and Guardsmen were cautioned by Beatty to notify their employers before leaving for training and to report back to their jobs immediately upon completion of their tours, or they may forfeit their statutory re-employment protection.

GO TO CHURCH ON SUNDAY

The Community Service Team, a branch of the Quad-City Mental Health Clinic, has begun operations from its new headquarters in the former maternity wing of St. Elizabeth Hospital, it was announced Friday.

Three community workers and an activity worker provide in-home assistance to those in need of help. The concept allows the mental health workers to better assess individual needs and to assist or suggest appropriate agencies to which individuals may turn for assistance, team members said.

Community workers in the program are Mrs. Shirley Clark, David Baldwin, George Davis and Beverly Leitner. The activity worker is Jewell Young. Robert Barth is coordinator of the program and Kathy Moore serves as secretary to the coordinator.

Five major objectives of the program have been established by the team. They are: (1) To become aware of persons in acutely stressful situations and to try to alleviate their problems before they become overwhelming. (2) To assist persons being released from mental hospitals in making a satisfactory adjustment in the community. (3) To act as liaison or referral source to those persons needing assistance. (4) To assist nursing and shelter care home owners in meeting Department of Mental Health regulations. (5) To provide crisis intervention when assessability to services is problematic.

Evening Behind-Wheel Driver Testing in GC

Secretary of State John W. Lewis has announced that behind-the-wheel driver testing will be conducted at 125 downstate Driver Examining Stations each Wednesday during daylight evening hours, effective June 14. Included is the local station at 1515 Edison Ave.

Lewis said, "Extension of evening testing to persons downstate follows a highly successful program that was started in Cook County on March 8. The three off-the-road lighted testing facilities in Chicago, which serve more than three million drivers, have been kept open until 10 o'clock each evening since March 6.

This has been a tremendous help to those persons employed during the day who would otherwise have to take a day off from their work to have their license renewed.

"Success of the program also is pleasing to me personally since Illinois is the first state in the nation to offer night behind-the-wheel driver testing."

Lewis said the offering of evening testing to persons downstate will be accomplished without hiring additional personnel and that the same system will be instituted at the downstate stations. Only those stations downstate which have been open in the past until 8 p.m. on Wednesdays for written tests will offer behind-the-wheel testing.

Illinois Blowing, Washing Away Little by Little

By JOAN MURARO
Copley News Service
Springfield — Every time the wind blows, or the rain falls, a little bit of Illinois takes off for another state.

All the little bits together add up to what the director of the state Institute for Environmental Quality feels is the biggest single pollution problem in Illinois—blowing soil in the air, and washing topsoil in the state's water which becomes silt and clogs rivers, fills reservoirs and plugs filter system.

Ironically, "everybody" knows how to prevent the soil from blowing or washing away," says Michael Schneiderman, institute director. "Everybody" has known how for 3,500 years, "give or take a year and a half."

But despite knowing how, it isn't getting done, and the institute wants to find out why it isn't and how farmers can be motivated to voluntarily do the things that need doing.

As a first step to finding out the "why," Earl Swanson of the college of agriculture at the University of Illinois, with a number of others, have been authorized to conduct an intensive study to first get answers to a number of specific questions and then to put together a workable program which will motivate farmers to use the soil conservation techniques which will halt the erosive processes.

Among the things Swanson's group will seek to determine, Schneiderman said, is the economic impact of soil loss on Illinois farmers both at the present level and at other levels under different but presently available farming and conservation methods.

The group will also seek to estimate the economic effect of soil loss on Illinois agriculture's efficiency in producing food, to estimate sedimentation damage and evaluate various incentive systems to achieve the desired goals.

"The last thing we would want," Schneiderman says, "is telling farmers they have to do this or that. It's in their own best interests to conserve the soil. After all, it's their farms that are blowing and washing away."

"But something is keeping them from using techniques known to everybody in the second grade; maybe it's fear of losing even more profit, when most of them are marginal now. Maybe it's federal subsidy programs, which might have them taking the wrong kind of land out of production at the wrong time. We want to find out for sure and then put together a workable program."

Though Schneiderman concedes that some problem sources might be a type which would require legislation to correct, he said, the institute "will take action in any area where it can," in an effort to keep the farm down on the farm.

Graduate Courses in Government Offered

Registration is under way for off-campus courses leading to a master of science degree in government from Southern Illinois University-Southwestern.

Summer quarter courses will be conducted at Scott Air Force Base near Belleville and at the Federal Building in St. Louis, said Nicholas Masters, chairman of the department of government and public affairs.

Graduate-level students may register through the government department.

Registration sessions also have been scheduled for June 5-6 and June 12-13 at the Federal Building, 1520 Market St. in St. Louis.

The courses are taught in three intensive Saturday-Sunday sessions during the summer. Between classroom sessions, students perform research and write papers.

Compensation Increases Among Bills Tabled by Assembly

(Springfield Scene)

Bills to increase workmen's compensation and occupational disease benefit rates and for increases in unemployment compensation were a major topic tabled in committee by the Senate in the last week.

Over 100 bills were tabled by the Senate.

Exempted from the tabling motion were bills dealing with appropriations, revenue, constitutional implementation and administration bills.

Also tabled was H. 3784 which provided for increased regulation of private employment agencies and included management consulting firms within the scope of the bill.

H. 4338 permitting the Pollution Control Board to allow costs and attorney fees when an enforcement action against a unit of local government is dismissed was also tabled.

One of the bills introduced to establish a state board of education, H. 1993, was tabled in the Senate Education Committee.

A bill to create a State Board of Education with board members appointed by General Assembly leaders was passed favorably without amendment by the House Constitutional Implementation Committee.

The measure is sponsored by House Speaker W. Robert Blair, Crete Republican, and Minority Leader Clyde Choate, Anna Democrat.

The board they propose would consist of eight members. None would be appointed by the governor.

The board would hire a state superintendent of public instruction to start serving when the present superintendent, Michael J. Bakalis, completes his term in 1974.

In other education matters, the House Elementary Education Committee approved S. 1428 requiring that financial plans of local school districts be furnished annually to state authorities, and S. 1431 providing grants for feasibility studies by local districts on a full-year basis.

The Senate failed to pass S. 1430 requiring annual assessments of pupil performance and fiscal efficiency of education by 1975.

Senate President pro tem Cecil Parter, Chicago Democrat, supported the bill, saying, "I can think of nothing more important to the people of Illinois than that children get a good education."

However, Sen. Terry Bruce, Olney Democrat, called it "most expensive self study."

The Senate Education Committee referred two bills (H. 4184 and H. 4372) aimed at reducing the qualifying rate for state aid of dual districts to a subcommittee, with action unlikely this session.

The new Judicial Inquiry Board hired Ray F. Breen, associate director of the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission, as its first executive director.

However, the Senate defeated H. 3047 which was designed to implement the Inquiry Board under the 1970 Constitution.

The House roped off part of its gallery as "unsafe for occupancy," but the Senate postponed action on H. 4634 which would appropriate nearly $1 million for renovation of the House Chamber, including shoring up the galleries.

A total of 655 public aid recipients started new jobs between April 1 and May 5 as a result of a new job placement program initiated by the Department of Public Aid.

Department Director Edward T. Weaver expressed appreciation to businessmen and industrial leaders for enthusiastic response to the program.

Verbatim transcripts of General Assembly sessions must be preserved and available for public inspection, according to an opinion issued by Attorney General William J. Scott.

A bill banning state tax on income derived from capital gains before Aug. 1, 1969, was defeated by the House Revenue Committee after the Illinois Department of Revenue objected (H. 4632).

The General Assembly's deadline for reporting specific and detailed estimates of funds to be available for appropriation in fiscal 1975 was extended to June 8, also the date of the House-Senate charity softball game.

Junior colleges will not be placed under the state purchasing act as a result of the defeat of H. 3745 by the Senate Executive Committee.

A five-bill package (S. 1598 through S. 1602) to put the state in compliance with the federal Occupational Safety and Health Act (OSHA) was introduced and advanced to amendment.

The bill represents—in part—the efforts of the Occupational Safety and Health legislative subcommittee, made up of management, labor and government representatives.

The Illinois Industrial Commission to agree on amendments to existing state safety laws to put them in compliance with the federal act—and thus give Illinois exclusive jurisdiction in administration and enforcement of the laws.

A proposed Litter Control Act fell one vote short of passage in the Senate Executive Committee.

The bill's sponsor, Sen. Philip Rook, Chicago Democrat, said there were 24 representatives of management and labor, including many from the container industry on hand to testify in favor of the bill. None were called to speak.

A bill (H. 4689) to freeze the amount of taxes able to be collected by a county collector for any tax rate limited by statute in units of local government and school districts was introduced last week by Rep. C. L. McCormick, Vienna Republican.

The bill, which does not affect home rule unit corporate rates or those rates to be extended to pay off various obligations such as bond issues approved by referendum, as well as selected other exemptions, is due to be heard by the House this week, sitting as a committee of the whole.

The freeze would affect taxes extended in 1973 and 1974.

The Senate Local Government Committee killed by an 8-6 vote a bill which would have retained to the state licensing and regulation power over insurance companies.

Still pending at passage stage are bills which would retain to the state jurisdiction over various state-regulated businesses and industries and exclude the possibility of local home rule units from "experimenting" with various licensing and regulatory measures.

The bills (S. 2780-2790, H. 2800, H. 2802-3 and H. 2806-2817), sponsored by Rep. John Conolly, Waukegan Republican, and handled in the Senate by Sen. William Harris, Pontiac Republican, are called vital for maintaining uniform licensing and regulation throughout the state.

S.H. 3047—which would give individuals the right to sue in circuit court while proceedings were pending before the Pollution Control Board and give the PCB authority to assess costs, witness and attorney fees—was voted out of the House Constitutional Implementation Committee.

A bill (S. 811) to create a Local Government Boundary Board to approve new incorporations and boundary adjustments was defeated by the Senate after the bill had not had proper hearing.

Part-year residents would not have to pay Illinois income tax on income earned while not a resident of Illinois under H. 4214, reported out favorably by the House Committee on Revenue.

The new comprehensive Election Code (S. 1599) is being heard by the Senate sitting as a Committee of the Whole. The massive revision was introduced by bipartisan backing and is a product of the Election Laws Commission.
